

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is an organic gate insulating film and an organic thin film transistor using the same, in which a photo-alignment group is introduced into an organic
5 insulating polymer, so that an organic active film has superior alignment, thereby increasing mobility. Further, the organic active film has a larger grain size, enhancing transistor characteristics.